

Image Manipulation [Armato] Weekly Image Journal – 10pts/week

In addition to specific homework assignments, you will be keeping an ongoing, weekly visual journal of manipulated images. These compositions are meant to be more open-ended than the formal homework assignments. They should be conceptual and theme-based. Each Thursday you will be given a theme as the inspiration for the following week's image journal entry. Combining at least two images, create an image that you feel communicates this theme. Use scans, your own digital photos, or Getty Images (and other public domain) images. You should convey the theme visually, so don't title it or use text in the composition. Beyond that, what you do and how you do it is completely up to you!
