

FUNDAMENTALS OF INTERACTIVE DESIGN [Armato]
Assignment #2 – Hyperlink Bio – [10pts]

Pair-up with a classmate that you don't know. Interview your partner as a journalist writing a brief biographical summary. Type up the paragraph in MS Word and save the file with a concise, meaningful name. Proofread and spell-check the document. You will be graded on spelling and grammar.

From this Word document, you will create two HTML documents for your web site: a02a.html and a02b.html. You will need to modify either your current index page, or your Assignment 02 placeholder page to accommodate this.

Version A of the bio will be an HTML page created by MS Word using the "Save as Web Page..." command. You will then open the resulting HTML file in Notepad and make the necessary additions to the code. With the exception of the page title, you will not be changing any of the code that Word created; you are simply finding the correct place to add some code.

Version B will be an HTML page written from scratch.

These two pages will have identical content and should both look the same.

In the text of the bio on both pages, create a relative link, an absolute link, and an email link on relevant text. You must create meaningful page titles and include the date on each page. Also be sure link to your partner's web site.

You may research additional HTML tags and experiment with some more formatting on the pages if you want an additional challenge. Just remember, the two pages should look the same.

DUE: beginning of class Tuesday week 3
(all relevant files created, modified and uploaded to you OLS server)

In preparation for Assignment 3, bring a digital image to class on Tuesday that is relevant to your bio. Check the class web site for further details.
